Family Launches Website for Missing Wilmington Woman CUE Center for Missing Persons Still Searching

Wilmington, NC. – Allison Jackson Foy, disappeared from the Junction Billiards Sports Bar located at 5216 Carolina Beach Road in Wilmington, NC; little is known concerning the missing woman before she vanished, three weeks ago.

On July 30th a Saturday night, Allison left her job, employed by Holiday Inn Hotel as an assistant manger to meet friends at a local pub. Allison did arrive and seemed to be in good spirits according to customers and friends. Days later the vehicle Allison was driving was located in the parking of the billiard pub.

Now, her family with help of their New Jersey friends, have launched a website to seek information of their own. The website features additional photos of Allison, contact information as well as the announced reward.

"It's upsetting not to know where she is and each day that passes, that feeling gets worse," quoted the family of Allison Jackson Foy. The family plans to return to North Carolina as much as needed until a resolution of this painful ordeal.

CUE Center volunteers will continue to search for Allison and provided support to her family. It is commonly said that adults are presumed to have left on their own and sometimes just walk away from life; said, Monica Caison, CUE's Founder, "from our experience", in missing person cases we have found that statement to be simply an assumption and it is very rare that an adult will put their family through this kind of suffering.

Anyone with information about Allison Jackson Foy's disappearance or her whereabouts is asked to call their local law enforcement agency or the confidential 24-hour tip-line at the CUE Center for Missing Persons: (910) 232-1687. Tips can also be cuecenter@aol.com or left at the Center's Web site at www.ncmissingpersons.org.
